DR. S. RADHAKRISHNAN

Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan (5 September 1888 – 17 April 1975) was an Indian philosopher and statesman who was the first Vice President of India (1951–62) and the second President of India from 1962 to 1967. One of India's most distinguished 20th-century scholars of comparative religion and philosophy, his academic appointments included the King George V Chair of Mental and Moral Science at the University of Calcutta (1921–1932) and Spalding Professor of Eastern Religion and Ethics at University of Oxford (1936–1952). His philosophy was grounded in Advaita Vedanta, reinterpreting this tradition for a contemporary understanding, he defended Hinduism against "uninformed Western criticisms", contributing to the formation of contemporary Hindu identity. He has been influential in shaping the understanding of Hinduism in both India and the West, and earned a reputation "as a bridge builder between India and the West". Radhakrishnan was awarded several high awards during his life, including a knighthood in 1931, the Bharat Ratna, the highest civilian award in India in 1954, and honorary membership of the British Royal Order of Merit in 1963.

Radhakrishnan believed that "teachers should be the best minds in the country" since 1962, his birthday is observed in India as "Teachers' Day" on 5th September.

"The dream begins with a teacher who believes in you, who hugs and pushes and leads you to the next plateau, sometimes poking you with a sharp stick called truth."

"Every child is shaped by the mind of the teacher."

"God send teachers to paint the lessons of life on the canvas of our heart."

"A teacher's purpose is not to create students in his own image, but to develop students who can create their own image."

"A good teacher is a master of simplification and an enemy of simplism."

"A good teacher is like a candle. It consumes itself to light the way for others."
